Businesses recognized by chamber

Trotwood — The Trotwood Florist and Sisters of the Precious Blood were among the eight businesses that were recognized at the Trotwood Chamber of Commerce's 12 Annual Recognition & Awards Dinner.

These two businesses received top honors at the event, which was held Nov. 7 at Friendship Village.

The Trotwood Florist, which is owned by Debbie Ashcraft and located at 724 E. Main St., received the small business award for providing outstanding service, according to Marie Battle, the chamber's executive director. Sisters of the Precious Blood received the large business of the year award for providing local and national service for over 100 years and for completing a $3.7 million renovation project of their facility at 4969 Salem Ave.

The other businesses that were recognized included Feller's Greenhouse & Garden Center, Dayton Nutra Foods, Dayton Hara Complex, Grismer Auto Service Center, Heard Management and Boone's Power Equipment. KELLI WYNN
